SENATORIAL

Mind Turns Anxiously to Thoughts

THE SENATORIAL CONTESTS

For Succession to the Higher Branch of Congress Are Likely to Lead Over Thorny Paths for Some Aspirants, Particularly in the West, Where Various Side Issues Will Cut a Considerable Figure.

Washington Post: "I shall make s fight for my re-election to the senate," said Senator Shoup, of Idaho, yester "You can make the statement as positive as you like."

Especial interest attaches to this declaration, because of the dispatch printed in the Post a day or two ago, saying that the Democrats, Silver Republicans and Populists had combined in Idaho, and would fight together in the appreaching campaign. This means that ex-Senator Fred Dubois is at work and hopes to succeed Shoup. Under the conditions which have prevailed in Idano, the combination which has now been agreed upon ought to be successful. It is understood that the agreement in-cludes the allotment of the governor to the Democrats, of the minor state offi-cers to Democrats and Populists, and the senatorship to the Silver Republi-cans, represented by Dubois. Senator Shoup said yesterday that the fight would be an earnest one, and while he would not venture a prediction, he hoped to be successful. It is said that the President is quite anxious to make inroads next fall into the states in the west hitherto controlled by the com-bined silver forces, and that the assistance given by Mr. Shoup will be of the most substantial kind.

Two Have Crossed the Rubicon.

Shoup's determination to enter into the Idaho contest recalls the fact that he is only one of twenty-eight senators who will have to run the gauntlet of re-election next fall. There would be thirty if Martin, of Virginia, and Gear, of Iowa, had not already secured their credentials. They are the only senators who have passed the Rublcon, and from the safe side of credentials already signed, can watch the struggles of their colleagues. Some of the contests are sure to attract wide attention, notably the one in which Senator Wolcott will be engaged. He is confronted by practicully the same situation as exists in Idaho, and there is said to be no doubt whether his silver-loving state will pardon his vote for the single gold standard law, even with its saving reference to indefinite and impossible bimetallism.

Some of the senatorial fights have already commenced. Senator Berry is now stumping Arkansas and talking anti-expansion, while Governor Jones, Alabama many of the counties have held their primaries, and the friends of both Senator Morgan and Governor Johnston are claiming victory. The is-sue in Alabama is more personal than otherwise, both candidates having an army of followers, and the main charge against Morgan being that he has held the senatorial office long enough. Tennessee, the announcement of Sena tor Turley that he will not be a candidate for re-election, has led to the appearance of a host of applicants, Governor McMillin, formerly a member of ngress, being among the number, Mr. Caffery is another senator who has no idea of returning. He is at odds with the people of his state through his de-votion to the gold standard, and it is expected that he will be succeeded by ex-Governor Foster. Senator Lindsay, with whem the financial issue has also played havoc, is to give way to Mr. Blackburn, who has already been elected, while Governor McLaurin will succeed Senator Sullival, of Mississippi.

Elkins and the Gerrymander. The fight in North Carolina promises to be interesting, with Senator Eutler as a candidate for re-election. He was sent to the senate by a combination of Republicans and Populists, and hopes to be returned by the uniting of the same forces. The campaign is to be fought on the issue of the proposed constitutional amendment respecting suffrage, and if the Democrats win, State Chairman Simmons will undoubtedly come to the senate. In Texas, Senator Chilton's pathway to re-election is now and has been for some time opposed by Rep-resentative Bailey, who has hopes of success, while Senator Cullom's strug-gle with Governor Tanner in Illinois, is already being watched with deep interest. Senator Elkins will have a fight on his hands in West Virginia, and he is handlcapped by the fact that the state may elect Republican presidential electors by several thousand majority, and yet, owing to the legislative dis tricting in that state by the Democrats —gerrymander which cannot be changed until after the census of the state has been completed and announced-the legislature may contain a majority Hostile to him.

Senator Chandler, who has already served eighteen years in the senate, stands in a receptive attitude. He is not disposed, it is said, to enter into a scramble for the place, believing that if his people want to retain him as their senator they will do so. How far his vote against the gold standard bill will affect his chances is at present an un solved problem.

Bryan May Become a Senator.

Two senators from Nebraska will be chosen by the legislature to be elected next fall. Senator Thurston's term expires and he anounced some time ago that he would not be a candidate for reelection. Assistant Secretary of War Meiklejohn is anxious to succeed him. The vacancy caused by the death of Senator Hayward, now temporarily filled by the appointment of Mr. Allen, will also come before the legislature, and if the Democrats carry the state through fusion with the Populists, as now seems probable, the result will be a net loss to the Republicans. There is already some gossip to the effect that the Democratif the Democrats win-will be William election next fall, and as his hold upon the state seems in no wise diminished, he is likely to be returned. Bacon, of Georgia, also counts on carrying his state again, although Fleming Du Bignon, a talented and brilliant lawyer and orator, has entered the lists against Knute Nelson, of Minnesota, seems also certain of return, his popularity being universal, while Senator Warren, of Wyoming, has the tide running his way. His state has enjoyed an unusual share of the prevalent prosperity, owing to the advance in the price of wool. Senator Frye, of Maine, and Senator Sewell, of New Jersey, will be returned without opposition.

Will Support Hoar Anyhow. The case of Senator Hoar, who will also be a candidate for re-election, presents a curious phase of politics. He is against the administration on its Philippine policy, and when the Philippine question comes before the senate, will criticise the President with unsparing hand. He has already placed himself on record, but will not yield an inch until the battle has been lost. Notwith-standing this, the pride of the state is centered in him, and he will be re-elect-ed without opposition. Many of the politicians would giadly see him sheived but they know that any attempt to defeat him would be resisted by the people, and would prove futile.

If Senator McMillin is to have a fight on his hands in Michigan it is not yet apparent, and his friends confidently predict his re-election on evidently good grounds. Pettigrew, of South Dakota, cannot, on the other hand, be returned except after the most strenuous efforts, with the chances against him. His state has been giving increased Republican majorities ever since 1896, and the action of the Populists in selecting a city in his state as the place for holding their national convention, will hardly have a saving effect. Senator Carter's fight in Montana will depend largely upon the outcome of the charges now pending against Senator Clark. Senator Kenny's fight in Delaware has hard-Iv begun.

Senator Baker, of Kansas, is opposed by J. R. Burton, who, for eight years, has been an aspirant for the senate, Mr. Baker has already opened his campaign with a number of speeches. Senator McBride, of Oregon, has also some opposition. He is now the head of what are known as the Mitchell forces in Oregon, although his gold standard proclivities make him stronger than Mitch ell and he is opposed by the anti-Mitchell faction. Mr. McBride is a can didate for re-election, and thinks he will be returned.

Senator Wetmore, of Rhode Island, is also a candidate for a second term.

CHICAGO-The steadiness of Liver pool and a New York report of liberal export sales were a support to the wheat market to-day, May closing firm and 4c over yesterday at 654,655%c. May corn closed %c lower and May oats a shade up. At the close provisions were steady and unchanged to 5c high-a shade up. At the close problems, were steady and unchanged to 5c higher.

A spiurge of activity, due to the report from New York that forty-six boat loads of wheat had been taken for export, was the only incident to break the monotony of trading in the wheat pit to-day. It was a day, generally speaking, of covering shorts, with the undertone steady because of the steadiness of Liverpool in the face of the slump here yesterday. The abrupt curtailment of the Liverpool session was something of a damper on the activity in the local pit. The fight was waged around 65c for May. This option opened a shade over yesterday at 554c, touched 65%c, and then sold off to 64%c. At 65c some wheat came out on stoy loss orders. On covering by shorts the market steadled and fluctuated narrowly until near the end. The report that forty-six loads had been taken for export, advanced May to 55% before further reports less buillish covering the foreign sales arrived. The market then reacted to 65%c, and shortly afterward closed firm, May ½c over yesterday at 55% 65%c. Atlantic port clearances in wheat and flour were equal to 47,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 528,000 bushels. Compared with 540,000 bushels last year.

Minneapolis and Duluth reported 530.
